All about the location

The municipality of Los Gigantes, with its approximately 3000 inhabitants, marks the end of the sun-drenched southwest coast of the island. Here, statistically, the sun shines on over 300 days a year. The landmark is the cliffs "Los Acantilados de Los Gigantes", which have given the town its name. These cliffs stretch for nearly 10 kilometers and reach heights of up to 488 meters, making them some of the highest sea cliffs in Europe. In Los Gigantes, you can reach the sea, stylish bars, restaurants, and a variety of shops in just a few steps. Local providers offer leisure activities such as whale watching, kayaking, diving, mini-golf, and much more. Los Gigantes is a picturesque place that captivates both nature lovers and active holidaymakers.
